

Rheanna Smith was born and raised in the Milwaukee area and now lives in Hubertus with her husband, son, and English Mastiff. Rheanna is an Account Executive with AMS, a Washington, DC association management company. At AMS, she leads non-profit membership organizations. She has over 20 years of association management, marketing and communication, and nonprofit experience. Rheanna serves as the Chair of AMS' DEI Committee and volunteered as a Crisis Counselor with the Crisis Text Line for four years.

Rheanna also provides freelance marketing, technical assistance, and project management services to several clients. She has her BA in Communication from Alverno College in Milwaukee, Wisconsin and her Master's in Nonprofit Management and Leadership from Walden University.

Rheanna has a strong desire to positively affect the lives of others and have an impact. While she is not a veteran, she has many veterans in her life and recognizes the need to ensure the right support and resources are available to those who sacrificed so much. She is passionate about wellness and mental health. She enjoys spending time outdoors in nature, traveling, and is an avid reader.
